If you stop to think about it you will understand that drugs can lose all their life and power. All the physician's skill and druggists' accuracy can be brought to nought by dead drugs. Dead drugs are really dead stock. Dead stock means dead trade. Our business wouldn't let us accumulate dead stock if we tried—and we're not trying. If you want live drugs come to the live store.

SOME INTERESTING RELICS

The Original Copy of Gen. Lee's Last General Orders.

Capt. B. B. Bouldin, of this city, is the possessor of some interesting relics in the way of old war documents, and through his courtesy, the Telegram has seen and will quote from some of them. One of them is a petition addressed to the general assembly of the state of Virginia, signed by about 125 "physicians and citizens" setting forth the necessity for exempting from military duty "such apothecaries as are now exempted from the same by the congress and government of the Confederate States. For the necessity of this we would call to mind that the apothecaries thus exempted number only forty-five (45) in the entire state.

"This number is hardly sufficient to supply the sick in their localities with medicines, and instances of suffering—perhaps of a fatal nature—have occurred in consequence of inability to procure the usual remedies.

"The education and experience necessary to fit the apothecary for his calling is of such a character that his duties cannot be delegated to unskilled persons and that the difficulty of procuring and bringing drugs to our towns is greatly increased, and that in addition to the preparation of physician's prescriptions, it now devolves upon the apothecary to manufacture many articles which formerly could be purchased ready for use. It is moreover uncertain at what hour the apothecary may be called upon to furnish his medicines.

"We therefore respectfully ask that the few apothecaries who are now exempt by the Confederate government may be allowed to devote their whole time and skill to the performance of their important duties in which the comfort and safety of the sick are so seriously involved."

Then follows the names, as mentioned above, and it will be of interest to note that this petition, which was presented to the legislature, was written on several different kinds of scraps of paper, pasted together, showing the scarcity of writing paper at that time. The petition is not dated, but it is supposed to have been written in 1864. In striking contrast with the scarcity of writing paper may be noticed an order issued Nov. 2, 1864, by the secretary of war upon the secretary of the treasury for a warrant in favor of Maj. H. Lee, quartermaster, for the sum of $800,000. Another order issued Nov. 3, 1864, in favor of E. C. Elmore for $300,000. Another Nov. 8, in favor of same man, for $350,000.

Writing paper was at a premium but it would seem there was "money to burn." We notice another order in favor of "Paymaster Sidney S. Nicholas, C. S. Navy at Richmond, Va." for the sum of $100,000 "for construction of iron clad vessels." This was April 2, 1864.

But perhaps the most interesting of these orders is one for a warrant, signed by President Jefferson Davis, in favor of Secretary of State J. P. Benjamin, "for the sum of fifteen thousand dollars in gold, payable out of the appropriation for Necessities and Exigencies, under the laws already passed or which may be passed." This order was issued Dec. 8, 1864. On one corner is written in Mr. Davis' handwriting: "$2,000 in Richmond and an order on Columbia, S. C., for the remainder."

This would indicate that gold was scarce, as only two thousand could be procured at the C. S. capital and the remainder was no nearer than Columbia, S. C.

GEN. LEE'S LAST ORDER.

In this collection of war relics is the original copy of General Robert E. Lee's last General Orders, which Capt. Bouldin has enclosed in a neat oak frame. It is written on blue paper and is much worn, but all the words are legible. We copy it in full, as follows:

"Hd Qrs Army of Northern Va.
10th April 1865.

"General Orders No. 9.

"After four years of arduous service, marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the Army of Northern Va. has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources.

"I need not tell the brave survivors of so many hard fought battles who have remained steadfast to the last that I have consented to this result from no distrust of them.

"But feeling that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing that would compensate for the loss that must have been attended the continuance of the contest, I determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past services have endeared them to their countrymen.

"By the terms of the agreement officers and men can return to their homes and remain until exchanged. You will take with you the consciousness of duty faithfully performed, and I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend to you His blessing and protection.

"With an increasing admiration of your constancy and devotion to your country and a grateful remembrance of your kind and generous consideration

FINEST SHIP IN THE NAVY.

SALUTED BY SAMPSON'S FLEET.

Howison's Nerve.

By Wire to the TELEGRAM.

New York, Sept. 27.—The cruiser Chicago entered the harbor this morning. She steered direct for the Olympia's anchorage, and Admiral Howison called on Admiral Dewey.

DEWEY'S KIN.

New York, Sept. 27.—Ten of Dewey's kinsmen went down to see him this morning for the first time in seven months. They left the Waldorf-Astoria soon after breakfast and took the navy yard tug Narketaah for Tompkinsville.

ALLEN WELCOMES DEWEY.

New York, Sept. 27.—Assistant Secretary Allen boarded the Olympia at Sandy Hook as representative of the secretary of the navy and welcomed Dewey. In showing Allen around the admiral told him the Olympia was the finest ship in the navy.

The Olympia started for Tompkinsville at half-past ten. She was saluted by Sampson's fleet and the flagship Chicago. The forts also saluted her. The Chicago had exchanged salutes with the Olympia when the latter had first anchored.

HOWISON'S AUDACITY.

New York, Sept. 27.—The fleet saluted the Chicago with twelve guns. Howison hauled down the pennant and hoisted the red flag with two stars, signifying that he recognized Sampson as the junior commanding officer of the fleet. Sampson and Captain Chadwick immediately paid their respects to Howison.

WAR PREPARATIONS

Continue in the Transvaal—Strengthening Defenses.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM.

Pretoria, Sept. 27.—A semi-official Boer government today urges the Boer government to give England forty-eight hours to deliver her ultimatum. It also urges that England be notified to land no more troops on the frontier, advising that if England fails to give immediate answer that the Transvaal take the field at once and begin an aggressive war.

ACTIVITY CONTINUES.

Pretoria, Sept. 27.—The Transvaal government is considering another note in reply to Chamberlain. It will probably be dispatched in a few days. Nothing of its nature can be learned. Negotiations with the Orange Free State continue active, the greatest accord existing between the two countries. Activity at the war office continues and every means possible is being taken to strengthen defenses.

THE AMERICANS DECLINED.

One Reason, Because They Refuse to Accept Filipino Dictation.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM.

Manila, Sept. 27.—American authorities have declined the request of General Jaramillo to send a vessel under the Spanish flag to collect Spanish prisoners of the insurgents, as stipulated by the Filipinos, on the ground that all forts are closed and that such step would therefore be unlawful; and, moreover, because they decline to accept Filipino dictation. The authorities are ready to send an American vessel.

Dewey Weather.

tion for myself, I bid you all an affectionate farewell.

"R. E. Lee, Gen'l."

Whether the great chieftain intentionally worded the above document so that the word "surrender" does not appear in it we do not know, but it is not there. It is possible that he did not want to say anything that would tend to humiliate any of those brave, but ragged and half-starved soldiers, every one of whom would have walked boldly into the very mouths of northern cannon at the command of their trusted leader. Instead, he put it on the higher ground of a desire on his part to save their lives, and, to quote him, "avoid useless sacrifice."

GENERAL WADE HAMPTON

Says the Democratic Party Will Win Next Year.

GATHERING OF RAILROAD MEN

From All Over the Country at Washington Next Week—Recorder

Cheatham's Wife Dead.

Special to the TELEGRAM.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Gen. Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, is in Washington. He has not been in Washington for several months and is here now on business of a personal nature.

The friends of the general are surprised to see him looking so well, for apparently he is in the best of health.

The general, as is usually the case, is reticent as to talking for publication in the newspapers, and above all things dislikes to be quoted in regard to political subjects.

Unlike General Butler, of South Carolina, who is an expansionist and a supporter of the President's Philippine policy, General Hampton is not an expansionist, as that term is generally understood. His devotion to democratic principles, and to the democracy, is as deep as when he served in the senate of the United States and was looked upon as the leader of the southern element of the democratic party in congress.

General Hampton is quoted as saying that the democratic party will win in the great national contest next year. He believes that the mass of the American people, if left free to express their convictions, and are not bought by the moneyed interests of the country, will vote the democratic ticket next year, and will restore the democracy to power at Washington.

The general believes that the southern people generally are for the re-nomination of Colonel Bryan, and he says there is no doubt but the state of South Carolina will be for the Nebraska in the national convention next year. He also believes that the southern states will all send solid Bryan delegations to the convention.

The general will be in Washington for several days. While here he has received many of his old personal friends, many of whom knew him and associated with him years ago.

Next week there will be a large gathering of railroad men of the country at Washington. The meeting will be held at the Shoreham Hotel, and is for the purpose of adjusting damage claims. The meeting is to be composed of the members of the Freight Claim Association.

It is said that there will be present at the meeting many railroad men from the southern states, and also from other sections of the country. All of the prominent railroads of the country will be represented. Rooms have already been reserved at the Shoreham Hotel for the purposes of the meeting of the association.

General Heth, the well known ex-Confederate soldier, who has been sick for a long time, is reported to be sinking slowly. His death is now regarded only as a matter of a few days, if not hours. His physicians are surprised at the wonderful vitality shown by the general. He is a native of Virginia, but is well known throughout the south. He has resided in Washington for some time, having usually spent the winters at the national capital. The physicians give the family no encouragement that he will live at the furthest more than a day or two.

Mrs. H. P. Cheatham, wife of Recorder Cheatham, whose death occurred the other day in this city, was one of the best liked colored women in Washington, and did much to elevate her race. Her funeral took place last Monday afternoon from the family residence here, and was largely attended.

That Senator Martin, of Virginia, will be re-elected to the United States Senate is now practically conceded by his opponents. It is estimated that from the nomination already made for the state senate and house of delegates that the senator will defeat Gov. Tyler by at least forty-one in the legislature.

Miss Augusta Daniel, of Richmond, Va., has accepted the principalship of the new Woodley school, which will open next month, and she is now at Woodley Inn. Miss Daniel, who is known throughout the length of her native state as one of its foremost educators, is a typical daughter of the Old Dominion, and is a marked acquisition to the suburban society of this city.

It is reported that General Eppa Hunton, of Virginia, will be in Washington the latter part of October next for the purpose of arguing a case before the United States court of claims. The ex-senator is said to be bearing up well under his recent heavy affliction.

A. W. Watson, a well known citizen of Charlotte, N. C., is in Washington, having arrived yesterday morning. He will be here for a few days on personal business, and is at the St. James hotel.

EVANGELIST LEE SUSPENDED

From All Ministerial Functions of the M. E. Church.

AN AUTHENTIC STATEMENT.

Complaint having been made by parties in Georgia against Rev. J. W. Lee, a member of West Market street M. E. church, of Greensboro, N. C., affecting his moral character, the pastor, in obedience to the Discipline of the church, appointed a committee of three members of the church to investigate said complaint to determine whether there was anything in the complaints requiring an arraignment of the said Rev. J. W. Lee.

Said committee reported to the quarterly conference that upon investigation they adjudged trial to be necessary, preferred the following charge and specifications, appointing one of their number to prosecute the case on behalf of the church.

Charge—Immorality.

In the trial the said J. W. Lee was ably represented by counsel. After a long, patient and thorough investigation, all the evidence presented, and the hearing of argument, running through four sessions of the quarterly conference, in all about sixteen hours, the following verdict was rendered:

That specification first is not sustained. That specification second is sustained. The charge, Immorality, is sustained.

Because of mitigating circumstances satisfactory to the quarterly conference, the penalty imposed by them upon the accused is suspension from all ministerial functions until the ensuing quarterly conference which will be held about the middle of November next.

This judgment leaves the said J. W. Lee's membership in the church intact.

By authority of the Quarterly Conference.

TIMROD'S POEMS.

There is an established agency in Charlotte for the sale of Timrod's poems, in charge of Prof. J. G. Baird, who took it at the request of the Timrod Memorial Association. The volume costs only $1.50 and should occupy a cozy place in the library of every southern home.

Timrod was a true singer, without borrowed glamor, and gave expression to the sentiments and emotions that thousands knew only in the indefinable thrill of the heart. He sang of our loved southland in stanzas of beautiful simplicity and sweetest pathos. His genius was of a rare order, and it is deplorable that he has not yet been accorded true recognition among America's greatest poets.

Dr. Kingsbury, of the Wilmington Messenger, says of him:

"In fact, in the moderate volume of his productivity there are lines of exquisite inspiration and expression, and stanzas of superb charm and power. He is a most quotable poet and has upon him, we trust, the light of immortality among the mighty dead who sang to the world and then passed into the silence beyond. This poet—true and noble and lovable—was born in this neglected southland. He is as much poet-born as Longfellow or Lowell, as Whitier or Holmes. He was a genuine singer, and not an echo. He sang noble, sweet, inspiring strains, and in the very prime of young manhood he left harp and song and, folding his hands, gave himself and all he hoped for into the hands of his Blessed Redeemer. We, of course, refer to Henry Timrod—a poet to us of more enrapturing delight than any other born in the south, and with the exception of Poe (accidentally born in Boston, as Thackeray was in India), he was perhaps the most richly endowed. He has left imperishable lines, we would fain believe. Reading again some of his productions, we have wondered why it is that every man and woman in our southland who has pretence to culture and any taste for delightful verse was not familiar with poems so exquisite in their beauty and the perfection of their form."

"The south has produced so few poets that it behooves her to cherish the memory of one like Timrod; but that she will be aided in his tardy recognition of an exquisite poetic artist, a beautiful and helpful singer, by all the other quarters of the union, it would be a grave impeachment of our national sense of poetry to doubt or draw in question. Noisy and feuding mediocrities may gain audience and following for a while; but the half-gods go at last: Apollo awakes—and resumes his reign."

In the general awakening of learning and culture throughout the south, as well as North Carolina, it is to be wished that the name of the poet Timrod will be raised to the eminence it has long deserved—beside Edgar Allan Poe and Henry W. Longfellow.

The Kearsarge, the new first-class battleship of the American navy, is completed, and the department will add it at once to the North Atlantic squadron. The Kearsarge is a grand triumph of American skill in shipbuilding and in the next sea fight of Uncle Sam's navy, if the ship be so lucky as to be near, she will give a fine account of herself.

It is very doubtful if this new cyclone of war has a superior on the water.

The great Dewey celebrations at the north are great things for the railroads. The Southern is keeping her rails between New York and New Orleans finely polished by long, fast-flying trains, filled with gala throngs of pleasure-seekers, enroute to the scenes of festivity.

There is a slight reversal of the usual order of things in the great Britain-Transvaal situation. Oom Paul talks of giving the English forty-eight hours in which to reply to his demands.

The Reidsville Review has converted itself into a semi-weekly. The Review is a good paper and for this evidence of thrift Messrs. Oliver Bros. have our congratulations.

TO LITERARY YOUTH.

Don't Despair Until the Mind Knows What to Write and What to Reject.

Because it is an excellent example of a state of helpless intellectual ferment the Eagle prints here a letter which it received the other day with a manuscript:

Dear Sir—Enclosed you will find a manuscript which sets forth my theory of the subject written upon.

It was a sad disappointment to me when this morning I found that Mr. of the Forum, to whom I had sent the sheet more than a month ago, had returned them; and that, after having mailed me an encouraging acknowledgment of their receipt, and insinuating the probable publication of the essay, some time ago. None of my work seems to be of a character acceptable to popular magazines, and their editors are reticent of criticism or explanation. If the public press discourage my efforts to enter a literary sphere of action, my life will be discordant monotone and the circumstance of my birth a reproach. Mine is a singular mind. It, although I have received no encouragement whatever, seems surcharged with a burning desire to express itself on paper. When I take up my pen I am amazed at the multitude of my thoughts which crowd my fancy; the rush through my brain and often overwhelm me with their power so that I can express but an epitome of a seemingly unlimited course of ideas. Although but nineteen years old I am experiencing a gradual loss of faith in human justice and benevolence and find myself at each failure to get my work accepted, growing indifferent about the affairs of life. Perhaps I have applied myself too closely to my reading for a person sensitive of disposition and eccentricity of mind, and have unfitted myself for the common walks of life; for I am more of a spectator than a partaker of the interests and joys of this carnal world. If you accept the enclosed you may alter the destiny of my life. If you do not accept it you may ruin the pulse of creation for me and destroy the seeds of undeveloped and unknown abilities.

Trusting to God that your decision be favorable, I await anxiously your reply.

Obediently.

The manuscript was entitled: "An Essay Expounding My Views on the Quality of Life and Its Perpetual Evolution from One Plane of Existence to Another." It would occupy two columns of this paper.

To cynics the egotism of that boy seems comic. It is pathetic, and it is not so very unusual either. He "has applied himself so closely to his reading" and not quite closely enough to his spelling and his grammar for success as a writer. Next he wants to quit being "a spectator of the interests and joys of this carnal world" and learn to be "a partaker." Let him get out among the girls and have fun. Reflection is not the sole function of a brain of 19. Observation and experience are the natural attributes of youth. He wants more actual knowledge and less priggishness.

For the practical training in writing let this boy of the boundless ambition begin with very simple things. The Eagle would be much more likely to take from him some little street incident which he had seen and which had in it that touch of pathos or humor which makes the whole world kin, than this scored on evolution. Writing is an art which takes practice as much as does piano playing or painting. But the novice will not get even his street incident published until he learns how to write it simply, that is to say, well.

But, first of all, let this young man with a singular mind cheer up. The fact that he has received no encouragement so far—except this—does not mean that the world is hard. So far he has not deserved encouragement. His mind is not yet disciplined so that it knows what to write and what to reject. Meanwhile, if he can find a job with eight hours' out-door exercise in the day, by all means let him take it. Then he might write out some of his simplest experiences in the evening. By the aid of that training, his mind, if it is good for anything, will cease to be a seething, bubbling void and become an orderly machine, with which he can write, keep store, run a dynamo, boss a gang of ditch diggers or do whatever other worthy thing his mind was created for. The fact that his mind is now "surcharged with a burning desire to express itself on paper" gives a presumption that some time he may be a writer, but it is only evidence showing that tendency is by no means proof of power.—Brooklyn Eagle.

NEURO INSTANTLY KILLED.

A Murder at Charlotte Yesterday Evening.

Burwell Washington, colored, was shot and instantly killed last evening at 6:30 in Charlotte by Sidney Phelps, also colored. The shooting took place at the house of Henrietta Smith, of First street, between Davidson and Alexander.

There were a number of negroes at the Smith woman's, among the number Will Carey, Chas. McNorton, Ada Dorothy and Phelps. Henrietta had been married but becoming infatuated with Washington left her husband for him. Phelps came here 11 months ago from South Carolina, and meeting Henrietta began paying her attention. He and Washington had been jealous of each other for some time. Yesterday afternoon Washington went to Henrietta's and finding Phelps there, began to raise a disturbance. He was ejected from the house by McNorton. He returned and became more hostile than before. Phelps put him out of the house. As he did so Washington cursed him and struck at him. Both negroes were in the yard at the time. Phelps drew his pistol and fired five times. Two of the shots took effect, one ball striking Washington in the chin, the other passing through his heart and lodging under his shoulder blade. Phelps ran out of the yard after firing. Washington walked toward him for some feet after being shot, and then fell, dying instantly. When Phelps saw him fall he fled, and had not been captured up to 2 o'clock this morning.

Telephone messages were sent for the police. Sergeant Baker and Officer Pitts arrived first, and Chief Orr a few minutes after. The facts as given above were told them by the negroes present. The body of the dead negro was carried in the Smith woman's house, and will remain there until after the coroner's inquest this morning.

Burwell was a Charlotte negro, and was about thirty years of age. He was head sewer at the compress, and was well known. He was a member of the Quicksteps baseball team.

Private Property to be Paid For.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The three governments interested in Samoa—Great Britain, Germany and the United States—have been considering the claims arising out of the bombardment last summer, in which the American forces under Admiral Kautz, and the British forces under Captain Sturdee, participated. As a preliminary step, the British government has signified a purpose to adopt in this case the principle observed in the damage done by the bombardment of Alexandria, Egypt, namely, that private property destroyed as a necessary incident to the prosecution of naval and military operations would be paid for.

A Wonderful Cure of Diarrhoea.

A prominent Virginia editor had almost given up, but was brought back to perfect health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Read his editorial. From the Times, Hillsville, Va.

I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. Moore. Sold by C. E. Holton.

Tribute to the Honor of Bagley.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 25.—A branch lodge of the National Union, which is distinctively an American order, was organized in this city last night, and named Worth Bagley, in honor of North Carolina's hero of Cardenas.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. C. E. Holton will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is every where admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaint and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

The great success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the treatment of bowel complaint has made it standard over the greater part of the civilized world. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

The Sure La Grippe Cure.

There is no use suffering from this dreadful malady if you will only get the right remedy. You are having pain all through your body, your liver is out of order, have no appetite, no life or ambition, have a bad cold, in fact are completely used up. Electric Elixirs is the only remedy that will give you prompt and sure relief. They act directly on your liver, stomach and kidneys, tone up the whole system and make you feel like a new being. They are guaranteed to cure or price refunded. For sale at C. E. Holton's drug store. Only 50 cents per bottle.

Died in Disgrace.

Recently a tramp who was to have been given a square meal, was found dead across the pile of wood he had been sawing. He had probably been conscious up to the last for the following note was found scribbled on a piece of newspaper.

"Kind lady:—Please don't tell anyone that I fled on a wood pile, for a piece of home made pie but the disgrace of this last is horrible. Bury me in the barn under three feet of hay and place a fresh somethin' on my grave every third month." Weary Walker."

The quickest and surest way to the recovery of lost health, is by the use of that radical and rational remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Diseases which originate in the stomach, must be cured through the stomach. A host of chronic sufferers who had "doctored" for years for a diseased heart, liver or spleen, have at last used "Golden Medical Discovery" for the blood, stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and found a perfect cure of the hitherto incurable ailments. The most convincing argument for a trial of this "Golden Medical Discovery" is that it has cured so many people "given up" by the doctors.

There is no alcohol, cocaine, opium or other narcotic in "Golden Medical Discovery."
"I have long felt it my duty to acknowledge to you what your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me," writes Miss Alice Hamilton, of East 4th St., Lexington, Ky. "I had intermittent fever (or fever and ague) one year before taking your medicine, and was pronounced incurable. I had a very bad cough. My arms and shoulders would ache and sometimes I would feel numb. I thought I was dying. I had also a great pain. Had it not been for Dr. Pierce's medicine, I know I would have been in my grave. I have taken three bottles of each of your medicines."

CUT WITH THE HANDING SAW.

Probably Fatal Accident to Young Engineer Monday at Lenoir.

Lenoir, Sept. 25.—A most distressing and probably fatal accident occurred here this morning at the Wilson Lumber & Milling Co.'s factory, Perkins M-day, the company's engineer, a young man of about 25, being the victim. Among their machinery in the shop, is a hanging belt-off saw which operates with a pendulum-like movement. Mr. Munday had been sawing some waste into short lengths for fuel, with this machine. When he had finished, and was in the act of stooping to pick up some of the pieces, the saw, in its first vibration, swung out further than the unfortunate man was expecting, and struck him in the side cutting a terrible gash, partially disemboweling him. He is living at this writing, but with very slight chances of his recovery.

Scrofula, a Vile Inheritance.

Scrofula is the most obstinate of blood troubles, and is often the result of an inherited taint in the blood. S. S. S. is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Scrofula; it forces out every trace of the disease, and cures the worst cases.

My son, Charles, was afflicted from infancy with Scrofula, and suffered so that it was impossible to dress him for three years. His head and body were a mass of sores, and his eyesight also became affected. No treatment was of any avail until his condition was reached by S. S. S. He was almost dead when he began to improve, and after he had taken a dozen bottles, he was able to go to school. His skin is perfectly clear and smooth, and he has been restored to perfect health.

THE SHERMAN TRUST ACT.
Attorney General Griggs Writes to Gov. Pingree Defining Its Powers.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Attorney General Griggs has written the following reply to a letter recently received by him from Governor Pingree, of Michigan:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 21st instant asking me to send you a copy of opinion to the effect that under the constitution of the United States Congress cannot enact a law which would be effective in suppressing trusts, so-called."

"In reply, I beg to say that I have never rendered, either officially or unofficially, any opinion of this kind. On the contrary this department has been engaged in bringing numerous suits in the United States courts under the Sherman act of July 2, 1890, entitled 'an act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies,' in several of which cases, notoriously that against the Trans-Missouri Freight Association, 166 U. S., 290, and that against Joint Traffic Association, 171 U. S., 845, the result has been the suppression by decree of the court of the offending agreement or association."

"You may possibly have reference to a letter of mine to a private citizen published several months ago in the newspapers, wherein I called attention to the fact that the only jurisdiction that Congress has over combinations or contracts in restraint of trade, was in relation to those which directly affected interstate commerce. That this is true, and that this is the full extent of the Sherman trust act, you will ascertain by reading the decision of the United States supreme court in the case of Hopkins vs. the United States, 171 U. S., 513, and the case of the United States vs. E. C. Knight Co., 156 U. S., 1."

"You are doubtless aware that it is not the right or function of the federal government to interfere with business transactions carried on within the several states, except upon some ground expressly authorized by the constitution. Congress can regulate directly that which we understand by 'interstate commerce,' but it has no power to regulate or control business or commerce carried on wholly within the limits of a state."

"I have called your attention to these matters, not because I assume that you are ignorant of them, for you doubtless understand them well, but only in order to explain to you that I have not given and could not possibly have given, any opinion of the purport expressed in your letter."

There's always hope while there's One Minute Cough Cure. "An attack of pneumonia left my lungs in bad shape and I was near the first stages of consumption. One Minute Cough Cure completely cured me," writes Helen McHenry, Bismark, N. D. Gives instant relief. Howard Gardner.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers permanently cure chronic constipation, biliousness, nervousness and worn-out feeling; cleanse and regulate the entire system. Small, pleasant, never gripe or sicken—"famous little pills." Howard Gardner.

"Best on the market for coughs and colds and all bronchial troubles; for or up it has no equal," writes Henry R. Whitford, South Canaan, Conn., of One Minute Cough Cure. Howard Gardner.

A Narrow Escape.
Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying 'I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends in earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 40c and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded."

KENNEDY KNOCKED OUT

Last Night by Peter Maher in the Second Round.

New York, Sept. 27.—Spreng thousands of persons saw Peter Maher knock out Joe Kennedy, the California heavyweight, in the second round in the Lenox Athletic Club arena tonight. Before the fight betting was 2 to 1 on Maher, but his victory was even easier than his friends had expected.

The knockout blow which Maher delivered was practically a double left swing and hook on the opposite side of the jaw. Kennedy fell as if hit with an axe, and though he was unable to regain his feet within the allotted ten seconds, he recuperated very quickly and walked to his dressing room within two minutes after he was felled.

Murdered His Brother.

News was received here this afternoon of a terrible tragedy which had occurred in Eagle Mills to-nap, about twenty miles north of here, last Saturday, in the killing of Will Renegar, by his brother, Shober Renegar. There are two reports. One is that Will was trying to get Shober to help him cut tops when he stabbed him with a knife, the wound being near the heart, and from the effects of which he died today. The other report is that last Saturday he cut his mother quite seriously and then tried to kill himself, but failed and that today while he and Will were in the field cutting tops he made an assault on Will and stabbed him to death. The coroner was notified and left for the scene of the tragedy in company with the sheriff, this afternoon. Shober is about 19 years old and is of unsound mind. About a year ago he tried to kill his father, but failed. I will give you the correct statement as soon as the coroner returns.—Statesville special to Charlotte Observer.

The concrete sidewalk in front of the handsome new office building of the Southern Loan & Trust Co. has been completed and is pronounced a splendid job. The work was done by Mr. W. R. Poole, an expert in such work.

The funeral of Mr. John C. Curtis was held at the residence this morning at 11 o'clock, and as announced in the Telegram yesterday, interment was made in Greene Hill cemetery. The mother and two sisters of deceased came up from Franklinville this morning to attend the funeral. Mrs. Curtis' parents came up yesterday from Sanford.

Rev. J. M. Clark, of Corinth, Miss., and Rev. M. D. McIver, of Bolivar, Tenn., passed through today enroute to Washington to attend the Pan Presbyterian Council. This body is composed of representatives of Presbyterianism from all over the world. Messrs. Clark and McIver are natives of North Carolina. Mr. McIver is from Moore county and Mr. Clark from the same section. They are most promising young divines.

THE LATE W. H. HILL.

Tribute to His Worth From His Business Associates.

The Telegram recently gave its readers the news of the death of Mr. W. H. Hill, of Danville, formerly a citizen of Greensboro. The following announcement has been prepared by Mr. Jas. I. Pritchett, president of the Dan Valley Mills, and neatly printed. We copy it to let our readers all know the esteem in which Mr. Hill was held by his associates:

ANNOUNCEMENT.

It is with profound sorrow that we announce the death of our secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. H. Hill, which occurred suddenly August sixteenth.

Mr. Hill was in his usual good health until the day of his death, and was at his post until about half after twelve o'clock of said day, when he was taken suddenly ill. He was taken to his room and under the physician's treatment rallied, and made the expression, about seven o'clock in the evening, that he felt much improved and expected to be at his place of business the following morning.

Having had many callers during the afternoon and feeling the need of rest, requested that he should be left alone for awhile that he might sleep. He was alone for about an hour, during which time death came.

He had since the organization of the Dan Valley Mills, served faithfully those with whom he was interested and his customers, having ever at heart the interests of both.

Since a young man he had been actively engaged in the milling business, and to his thorough knowledge thereof is due much of the success this business has enjoyed.

He was a Christian gentleman of the highest type. In his death we lose a faithful officer, an able manager, a personal friend and the community one of the best of citizens.

We desire to state to our friends that the business will be conducted under the same general management and that his son, Mr. Wm. B. Hill will succeed him as secretary and treasurer of the company.

Dan Valley Mills.
By Jas. I. Pritchett, Pres.

A Legal Bout.

Hon. A. M. Scales went to Reidsville this morning to act as referee in a case there. Mr. R. R. King, of this city, is counsel on one side, and Messrs P. B. Johnson and A. J. Burton represent the other.

Bound Over to Court.

In the matter of the affray between D. E. Thomas and J. C. Patrick, Squire Pritchett yesterday afternoon adjudged them both guilty and bound them over to the Superior court.

Can't Shiver.

You've read in Grimm's Fairy Tales about the young fellow that was going all over the kingdom trying to learn what it was to shiver, and didn't find out till his wife woke him one cold morning by pouring a bucket of ice water over him. Well, we are not going to threaten you with ice water, but if you don't provide yourself with a good warm suit of under clothing this September weather will have you shivering in good style. Read ad of Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees today.

Will Engage in Farming.

Mr. S. L. Warner, wife and children, of New Jersey, are in the city stopping at the Allen. Mr. Warner is looking at farm lands near the city and will locate in this county. We welcome him and his family. They are the kind of settlers this county most especially needs. We love to see the cities and towns grow, but the rural districts must come along with them in order that the growth may be solid, permanent and healthy.
